Simms Shield

8 Seasons... 7 Male Recipients... 2 Female Recipients...

The award was introduced in 1982 by the then Secretary, Michael Simms.

The award was awarded to a player who has shown themselves as loyal, friendly and helpful league member in supporting the league or people within the league.

Michael Simms alone decided upon the recipient each season till 1986/87 season; the new committee of 1988 chose the recipient.

The Shield was given to Alfred Candler's widow Dolly in 1990...
